Web Site Helps Improve City School Food

By: Liz Witter

City residents got the chance to lobby the City School District Board of Education to improve school food.

Healthikids.org allows residents to send letters to officials regarding their concerns for current school food and unsafe play areas.

The web site played a part in the selection of ARAMARK as the district's food service vendor.

It also features a public forum, surveys, food information and an events calendar.

Healthi Kids is an initiative of the Finger Lakes Health Systems Agency.
